David and Carol Shippey lived in Sunderland before relocating to Norfolk in 1998.

David studied at the Royal Academy of Music under George Rogers, Douglas Hopkins and Malcolm Hill, later going on to London University. After teaching for a year in Wisbech, he returned to Sunderland, teaching at Monkwearmouth School, later becoming Head of Music at St Aidan's School, where he remained for 15 years. He was also Organist and Choirmaster of Bishopwearmouth Parish Church and later at St George's United Reformed Church. From 1985 - 1993 David was Music Director of the Bishopwearmouth Choral Society. Since moving to Norfolk, David has taught at Cromer High School, Wymondham College and Blyth Jex School. He subsequently taught at Hellesdon High School in Norwich and is Director of Music at Cromer Parish Church.

Carol was born in Sunderland and has sung all her life, both chorally and as a soloist. In her early years, she was a well-known local performer with BBC North, both radio and TV, accompanying herself on the guitar. Over the years she has composed a number of works including vocal and instrumental pieces, and has written a considerable collection of poetry and short stories.

David and Carol regularly give recitals during the summer months in France. Recent performances have included cathedrals in Carcassonne, Beziers and Montpellier; invitations for future concerts have come from Toronto, Zwickau and Texas. They are now both retired.

Next week: The Wenlock Trio , music for oboe, clarinet and bassoon
