Daniel Gordon is the Repetiteur of Leeds University (part-time), accompanying, coaching, examining, and organising, hundreds of student performances every year. Most of these are classical, but some of his former students work in the West End, jazz and other bands; one has recently won three Grammy awards.

Outside the academic sphere, Daniel is the accompanist, and assistant chorus master, of Huddersfield Choral Society; next season he will also be conductor of the Huddersfield Singers chamber choir. He has played regularly with many other groups, e.g. the CBSO chorus, Black Dyke Band, and Manchester Camerata, and is delighted to be an Honorary Member of the Sheffield Philharmonic Chorus. He has appeared as a choral repetiteur on ITV's South Bank Show, CBBC, Radios 2 and 4, and was described by the Yorkshire Post as a strong soloist. He is voluntary musical director for the Leeds Hospitals, and choirmaster/organist of Adel parish church.
